

June 19, 1939.

Mr. Milton Gross,
% N. Y. Post,
New York City.

Dear Sir:

Please pardon my seeming negligence in being so long in getting in touch with you, but the fact is I did not want to contact you until I had done something about the matter, in which you asked me to take care of. I felt it would be useless to speak to Forbes and really not being in position to do very much outside of that, so I consequently waited until I went to Phila last week and had a talk with Mr. Ed. Gottlieb, #509 Market St., he is the Recording Secretary of the League, and also handling all the promotions at Yankee Stadium for the League.

Forbes is employed on these promotions, I have requested Mr. Gottlieb to get in touch with both of you, get the matter adjusted and pay you the money due you. I am sure you will hear from him within the next few days, if you do not, please advise me further.

I am very sorry you have had to suffer this inconvenience, and feel sure it will be adjusted very quickly.

Yours very truly,

EM:CCJ